USER ROLES

The Beacon website is open to the “World”, except for the directory, handbook, stewardship, meeting minutes, leadership reports, and account settings. A World user must register on the Beaconuu.com website to automatically be assigned the role of “Subscriber.” The webmaster has blocked several dozen email domains, known to welcome web abusers, to prevent hackers and spammers from registering on the site. This has greatly reduced the number of known abusers who register on our site. Once registered as a Subscriber, the user only gains access to create a profile, change their password, and log out.

Subscribers are researched and vetted by the webmaster. Known hackers and spammers, who’s domains are not blocked, are deleted as users of the website by the webmaster. Other steps have been taken to protect the site and its data from web abusers. Known abusers pose little risk to our website but deleting them makes managing users easier and removes future risks, not yet identified.

Subscribers who are not deleted are assigned to other roles by the webmaster. Members are listed in the Beacon Directory. Subscribers are reassigned the role of “Member” if listed in the directory.

Members have access to all the protected features and pages except for the Beacon Dashboard Guide.

The role of “Friend” is assigned to UU associates, past members, and those who choose to be in community with Beacon. Some friends are listed in the Beacon Directory. Others are identified as members of committees, volunteers, and regular attendance at Sunday service. Friends have access to all the protected features and pages except for the Beacon Dashboard Guide and Board Meeting Minutes.

The role of “Visitor” is assigned to registered website users who are in the visitors’ log and those who have been researched and not found to be a known hacker or spammer. Visitor’s gain access to the Leadership news posts.

Authors and Editors are special members with write access to specific website pages and posts
